MAP OF INDIA

FIRST EDITION

India Showing Political Divisions in the New Republic published by the Survey of India

(1950). On this map the Sino-Indian boundary in the eastern sector is drawn generally in accordance with the illegal McMahon Line, but it is marked as boundary undemarcated

(I). No boundary is drawn at all in the western and middle sectors, there are only the words "boundary undefined" (1). This way of delineation was consistently followed by official Indian maps prior to 1954.
